A SUPERIOR FLAG FABRIC THAT HAS NO COMPETITION

Light-Fastness - Protects against UV Rays.

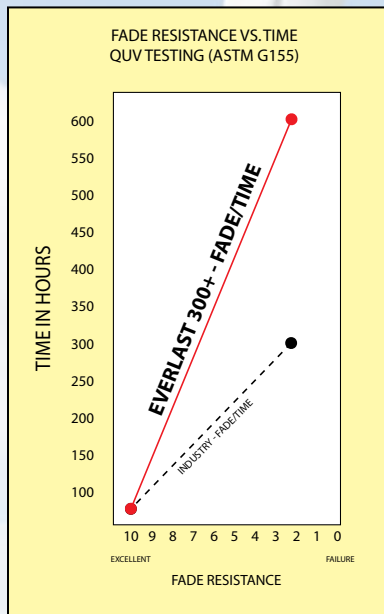

Wet-Fastness - Prevents migration and bleeding of the dyes.

Strength - Increases the life of the flag by 2 times making it the most superior flag fabric in the marketplace.

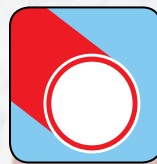

THE EVERLAST™ 300+ JET DYEING PROCESS

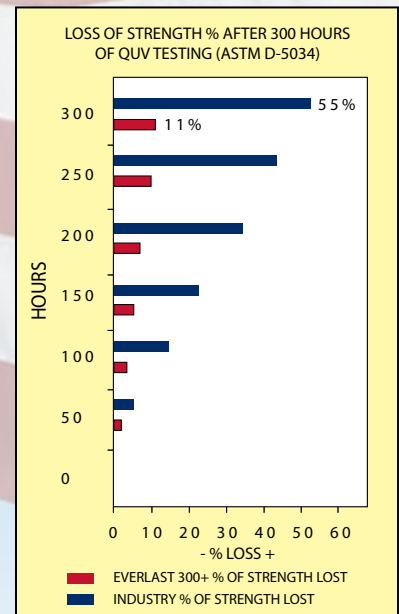

The Everlast™ 300+ Jet Dyeing Process utilizes high heat and pressure to ensure penetration of the fabric's fiber from the inside out. This superior penetration imparts better UV resistance and eliminates virtually all bleeding problems.

THE BEAM OR PAD DYEING PROCESS

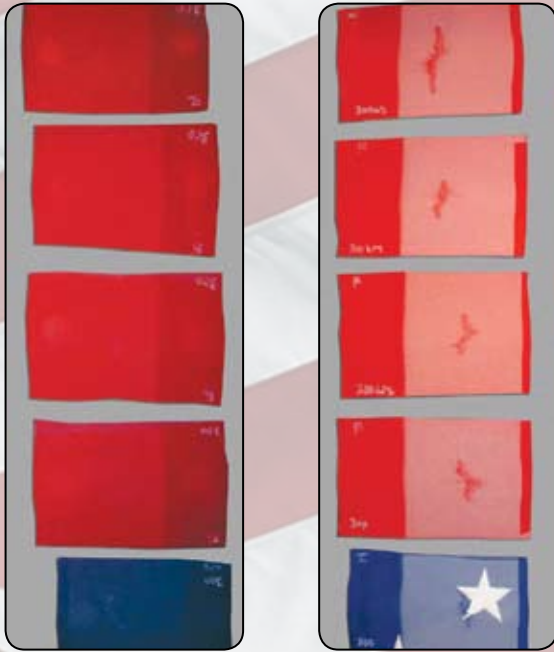

Beam or pad dyeing is restricted to lower heat which results in poor dye penetration. This surface dyeing technique results in a higher risk of bleeding with lower UV resistance.

THE BEST MADE U.S. FLAG

Made with the world's most superior flag fabric... EVERLAST™ 300+

QUV Accelerated Weather Tested Fabrics using ASTM G155 at 300 Hours shows SUPERIOR FADE RESISTANCE of the Everlast™ 300+ Flag Fabric.

How long should a flag last? There is no definite answer to this question. How long any flag will last depends on the weather, its location, airborne contamination and how often you fly your flag. Remember, your flag is a piece of cloth that works very, very hard. Throughout its lifetime your flag shakes, trembles, drapes, snaps, chafes, bakes, freezes, ripples, flutters, furls, twists, flaps, strains, flies, unfurls and hangs! Is it any wonder that a flag that flies continuously needs replacing two or three times a year? Wind, water, sun and carelessness are the major enemies of a flag. No one can control the weather but you can take some important steps to lengthen the life of your flag. Occasionally washing your flag in warm detergent water will prevent pollutants and dirt from weakening the fabric. Always let your flag dry thoroughly before storing it to prevent mildew or color transfer. At the first sign of fraying, have your flag repaired before further damage is done. Always keep your flagpole as clean as possible and move your pole if your flag does not have adequate room to fly unobstructed.
